HARPER'S MAGAZINE

FOR FEBRUARY.

THIS number excels in the variety and value of its illustrated articles. The frontispiece is a portrait of Edwin Booth, engraved from Sargent's painting at the Players' Club. A novel and entertaining feature of the number is the collection of twelve original drawings (now published for the first time) by W. M. Thackeray, illustrating the "Heroic Adventures of M. Boudin," with comment by Anne Thackeray Ritchie. Two important papers, with numerous illustrations, appear on Finland. Charles Dudley Warner contributes an illustrated article entitled "The Heart of the Desert," describing the valley of the Yosemite, the great desert of New Mexico, and the Grand Cañon of the Colorado. A voyage in southern latitudes through "Smyth's Channel and the Strait of Magellan" is the subject of an entertaining illustrated paper by Theodore Child. Bishop Hurst contributes a paper on "English Writers in India;" L. E. Chittenden an interesting paper of reminiscences entitled "The Faith of President Lincoln;" and Ellen Mackay Hutchinson, a paper on "'Personal Intelligence' Fifty Years Ago." The fiction includes the second part of Charles Egbert Craddock's "In the 'Stranger People's' Country," and short stories by Edward Everett Hale and Geraldine Bonner. The number is rich in poetry, and the Editorial Departments maintain their usual standard of variety and literary excellence.

35 cents a copy.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $4.00 A YEAR.

Booksellers and Postmasters usually receive Subscriptions. Subscriptions sent direct to the Publishers should be accompanied by Post-office Money Order or Draft. When no time is specified, Subscriptions will begin with the current number.

IMPORTANT NEW BOOKS

Lewis's Elementary Latin Dictionary.

An Elementary Latin Dictionary. By CHARLTON T. LEWIS, author of "A Latin Dictionary for Schools," etc. Small 4to, half leather, $2.00.

"This is substantially an abridgment of Mr. Lewis's 'Latin Dictionary for Schools,' published by Harper & Brothers, 1889. The vocabulary has been extended to include all words used by Catullus, Tibullus, Propertius and Tacitus (in his larger works), as well as those used by Terence, Caesar, Sallust, Cicero, Livy, Nepos, Vergil, Horace, Ovid, Juvenal, Phædrus and Curtius. On the other hand, space has been saved by the omission of all detailed references to books and passages, only the name of the writer being indicated as authority for each word or phrase; and by limiting the illustrative citations to those which are typical or peculiarly instructive. Proper names, too, have been excluded, except those which, because of peculiarities of form or of their derivations, require special explanation."—From Preface.

Boswell's Life of Johnson.

Including Boswell's Journal of a Tour to the Hebrides, and Johnson's Diary of a Journey into North Wales. Edited by GEORGE BIRKBECK HILL, D.C.L., Pembroke College, Oxford. Popular edition. 6 vols., large 8vo, cloth, uncut edges, and gilt tops, with many portraits, views, facsimiles, etc., $10.00.

"Dr. Birkbeck Hill's edition of Boswell may perhaps be regarded as the most scholarly, painstaking, liberal-minded, fair and complete that has yet been published. It is honest work throughout, and careful and loving work, and it is informed by a sanity and ripeness of judgment and illustrated by an extent of information which must place and keep it in the front rank."—N. Y. Tribune.

Viscount Melbourne.

By HENRY DUNCKLEY, LL.D. With portrait. Crown 8vo, cloth, $1.00. (The Queen's Prime Ministers Series.)

Dr. Dunckley is a writer who has made a special study of the constitutional questions which presented themselves for settlement at the beginning of the reign of Queen Victoria. His book is written with incisive vigor, and with a complete mastery of the momentous epoch in which Lord Melbourne played so important a part.

Tales from Shakespeare's Comedies.

By CHARLES and MARY LAMB. Edited, with Notes, by WILLIAM J. ROLFE, Litt.D. Illustrated. 16mo, cloth, 50 cents.

Mr. Rolfe has given to this new issue in the series of "English Classics for School Reading," the careful and scholarly editing which is characteristic of all his work, and the volume will prove of value both as a text-book and as a book for the general reader.

Published by HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

For sale by all booksellers, or will be sent by the publishers, postage prepaid, to any part of the United States, Canada, or Mexico, on receipt of the price.

NOTES IN SEASON.

JOHN WILEY & SONS have in preparation "The Soldiers' First Aid Handbook," by Capt. Wm D. Dietz, Surgeon U. S. A.

P. BLAKISTON, SON & Co., Philadelphia, announce for early publication a "Systematic Elementary Chemistry," by William Ramsay.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has just ready a volume of reminiscences of the early days of Methodism in this country, and of the late war, etc., by the Rev. Dr. Joseph Cross, under the title of "Days of My Years." Mr. Whittaker will publish shortly a volume of selections from the unpublished writings of the late Bishop of Michigan (Dr. Harris), under the title "Thoughts on Life, Death and Immortality."

HENRY HOLT & Co. have just ready "Told After Supper," a series of brief burlesque ghost-stories by Jerome K. Jerome. Although represented as told in good faith by their narrators, the reader is sometimes let into a hint of realistic explanation which gives the touch of good-natured satire characteristic of the author. The book abounds in humorous illustrations. Henry Altemus, Philadelphia, has also published an edition of the book.

THE CASSELL PUBLISHING CO. have just ready an interesting volume by Kate R. Lovell, entitled "Nature's Wonder Workers—short life histories in the insect world." In this book the author's aim is to interest the reader in what are called the "useless insects." The information has been carefully collected from the best and latest authorities on entomology, and may be relied upon as far as it goes. She has made an admirable book to put into the hands of the young, to teach them that the most despised creatures that cross their path have their use in the world and should not be wantonly destroyed.

G. W. DILLINGHAM, New York, announces for immediate publication "The Bravest Five Hundred of '61," edited by Brevet Brigadier-General T. F. Rodenbough, U. S. A. Out of the 2,778,304 men enlisted in the Union Army and Navy, 1861-5, a little less than 500 were specially recognized by the War Department, as coming under the Act of Congress, July 12, 1862, for distinguished bravery. These brave men were presented with the United States Medal of Honor, which is justly distinguished as the highest military decoration, being more rare than the Victoria Cross of England, the Iron Cross of Germany, or the Cross of the Legion of Honor of France. The book will be an octavo of over 500 pages with nearly one hundred illustrations. It will be sold by subscription only.

ROBERTS BROTHERS will publish February 10 the following: "Petrarch—his life and works," by May Alden Ward (author of a similar work on Dante), a clear and well-written sketch, in which the subject is considered as the precursor of the Renaissance, and as one of the great triumvirate that created the Italian language and inaugurated its literature; a volume of essays by Joseph Henry Allen, entitled "Positive Religion;" and a volume entitled "Power Through Repose," by Annie Payson Call, who treats of such subjects as training for rest, rest in sleep, the body's guidance, training of the mind, etc. They also announce a new edition of the poems of Emily Dickinson, which have been so successful. The price has been reduced to $1.25, and the drab-and-white edition will be discontinued.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION No. 2, of Philadelphia, forwarded a petition to the U. S. Senate, January 24, urging early action on the International Copyright bill. Among other points made in the address is the following: "The Bill in its present shape is in such form as to unite all interests—the writers, the makers and the readers of books; amendments would, therefore, be undesirable, and can but create opposition." Accompanying this petition was a circular containing indorsements of the bill by thirty-seven Typographical Unions, the United Labor League of Philadelphia, the American Federation of Labor, the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, the order of Knights of Labor of America, and fourteen other labor organizations.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A.D. 2050: electrical development at Atlantis; by a former resident of the "Hub." San Francisco, Cal., The Bancroft Co., 1890. c. '90. 3+83 p. D. cl., 75 c.

Suggested by Bellamy's "Looking backward," an imaginative picture of American life in 2050, with all our inventions and discoveries brought to the highest form of development, with vice and misery banished, etc., etc.

Abbott, Austin. New cases selected chiefly from decisions of the courts, with notes; with an analytical index to all points of law and practice and all code citations contained in the standard reports of New York issued during the period covered by this v. V. 25. N. Y., The Diossy Law-Book Co., 1890. c. 4+42+535 p. O. shp., $5.

Armour, J. M. Mercy and the law: its place in the divine government. Bost., Bradley & Woodruff, 1891. 280 p. 12°, cl., $1.25.

Arthur, T. S. Lessons in life for all who will read them. N. Y., G: Munro, [United States Book Co., 1891.] 6-215 p. D. (Seaside lib., pocket ed., no. 1657.) pap., 20 c.

Arthur, T. S. Off-hand sketches, a little dashed with humor. N. Y., G: Munro, [United States Book Co., 1891.] 5-216 p. D. (Seaside lib., pocket ed., no. 1658.) pap., 20 c.

Arthur, T. S. Words for the wise. N. Y., G: Munro, [United States Book Co., 1891.] 5-215 p. D. (Seaside lib., pocket ed., no. 1652.) pap., 20 c.

Bardeen, C. W. Effect of the college preparatory high school upon attendance and scholarship in the lower grades: a paper read before the department of secondary education of the National Educational Assoc., at St. Paul, Minn., July, 1890. Syracuse, N. Y., C. W. Bardeen, 1890 [1891.] 5 p. D. (Papers on school issues of the day, no. 9.) pap., 15 c.

Bascom, Lee. A god of Gotham: a romance from the life of a well-known actress. N. Y., G: W. Dillingham, 1891. c. '90. 4-277 p. D. pap., 50 c.

The action of the story is in New York. Donita Lorraine, a celebrated actress, is the heroine, and Gordon Grey, a prominent society man, the hero. The theme is the romance of Donita and Gordon. It introduces Mrs. Langtry, the actress, and involves a tragedy. The novel is sensational throughout.

Bates, Harriet True. Two men of the world: a novel. N. Y., G: W. Dillingham, 1891. c. 4-344 p. D. pap., 50 c.

A dramatic story, in which the heroine's affections are disputed by two lovers. Her previous history complicates and mystifies in the beginning, but the interest is centred in her action in a crisis where she is forced to decide between Redfern and Fitzgerald, and in the sensational and unexpected denouement.

Beers, H: A. From Chaucer to Tennyson: English literature in 8 chapters, with selections from 30 authors. N. Y., Chautauqua Press, [Hunt & Eaton,] 1890 [1891.] c. '90. 3-313 p. D. (Chautauqua studies, 1890-91.) cl., $1.

Bible. New Testament. The gospel according to St. Luke, being the Greek text, as revised by Brooke Foss Westcott and Fenton J: Ant. Hort; with introd. and notes by Rev. J: Bond. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1891. 17+164 p. 16°, cl., 65 c.

Bible. New Testament. The great discourse of Jesus the Christ, the Son of God: a topical arrangement and analysis of all his words recorded in the New Testament, separated from the context. N. Y., A. D. F. Randolph & Co., [1891.] c. '90. 29+361 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The compiler, who in middle life found himself without a creed and deeply antagonistic to organic Christianity as manifested in the Church, made an earnest study of the words of Jesus himself. These words of Christ, taken verbatim from the gospels, he has arranged under various topical headings, giving chapter and verse of the text of the Old Version. Every subject relating to man's affection, duty, responsibility and relations with his fellowmen is thus presented in the words of Christ only. The idea is original and interestingly worked out. The volume is technically a fine piece of bookmaking.

Bible. Scripture selections for daily reading: a portion of the Bible for every day in the year; comp. by Jesse L. Hurlbut, D.D. N. Y., Hunt & Eaton, 1891. c. '90. 13+433 p. O. cl., $1.50.

Birnbaum, Max. Prof. Koch's method to cure tuberculosis popularly treated; from the German by Fr. Brendecke; with an appendix; being Prof. Koch's first communication on the subject, from the Deutsche Medicinische Wochenschrift, and explanatory notes by the author. Milwaukee, Wis., H. E. Haferkorn, 1891. c. '90. 1+27 p. D. cl., $1; pap., 75 c.

Campbell, Helen. Anne Bradstreet and her time. Bost., D. Lothrop Co., [1891.] c. '91. 8+373 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The biography of Anne Bradstreet introduces to American readers the earliest of the women-writers of America. It is a somewhat remarkable life-story capably told. It is, as the author says, "the story of one woman who, in the midst of obstacles that might easily have daunted a far stouter soul, spoke such words as her limitations allowed."

Carleton, W. Shane Fadh's wedding, and other stories. N. Y., G. Munro, [United States Book Co., 1891.] 2-110 p. D. (Seaside lib., pocket ed., no. 1652.) pap., n. p.

Charlie Scott; or, there's time enough. N. Y. and Chic., Fleming H. Revell Co., 1891. 80 p. il. 16°, cl., 30 c.

Cheever, G. B., D.D. Memorabilia of George B. Cheever, D.D., late pastor of the church of the Puritans, Union Square, New York, and of his wife, Elizabeth Wetmore Cheever, in verse and prose. N. Y., J. Wiley & Sons, 1890 [1891.] c. '90. 29+361+72 p. D. cl., $2.

George Barrell Cheever was born in Hallowell, Me., April 17, 1807; he died at Englewood, N. J., Oct. 1890. Dr. Cheever had a reputation not only as a great preacher, but as a writer on an infinity of subjects, and as a hymnologist. He was a great anti-slavery man, his bold preachings on this subject exposing him to persecutions. This volume gives an account of his life and writings, embraces some of his poems and hymns, and includes the funeral address, etc.

Child-hunters (The); by a friend of Italy. N. Y., G. Munro, [United States Book Co., 1891.] 6-188 p. D. (Seaside lib., pocket ed., no. 1630.) pap., 20 c.

Comfort, Lucy Randall. The widowed bride; or, the mystery of Glenhampton. N. Y.,

Street & Smith, [1891.] c. '90. 4-221 p. D. (Select ser., no. 75.) pap., 25 c.

Cross, Jos., D.D. Days of my years. N. Y., T. Whittaker, 1891. c. '90. 5+319 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The author of "Old wine and new," "Alone with God" and other books relates the events of his varied life. He completed his 77th year on the 4th of July, 1890, hence has witnessed the great historical episodes of the present century. As a minister of the Methodist Church who has preached all over the United States, and ministered to the spiritual welfare of the prisoners and the sick in hospitals during the late war, he has much to tell.

Culverwell, E. P. Elementary mechanics. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1891. 12+138 p. 12°, cl., $1.25.

Cupid's dream-book for ladies and gentlemen; containing instructions for the interpretation of dreams; with a dictionary of dreams. N. Y., Street & Smith, [1891.] c. '90. 4-65 p. O. (S. & S. manual lib., no. 18.) pap., 10 c.

Dallas, Mary Kyle. The Grinder papers; being the adventures of Miss Charity Grinder, wherein are detailed her numerous hairbreadth escapes and wonderful adventures while on a visit to New York from the country. N. Y., Street & Smith, [1891.] c. '90. 6-339 p. D. (Select ser., no. 74.) pap., 25 c.

Dreyer, J. L. E. Tycho Brake: a picture of scientific life and work in the sixteenth century. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1891. 16+405 p. 8°, cl., $3.50.

Gay, Eben H. Municipal bonds: a consideration of the various classes of municipal bonds, railroad bonds, water company bonds and farm mortgages; with a comparison of their relative security. Bost., Damrell & Upham, 1890 [1891.] c. '90. 2-43 p. 12°, pap., 50 c.

Gerard, E. and D. [Emily de Laszowska and Dorothea Gerard.] A sensitive plant. N. Y., Appleton, 1891. 5+423 p. D. (Appleton's town and country lib., no. 66.) cl., 75 c.; pap., 50 c.

Chiefly a character study of a lovely young Scotch girl. Her sensitive, shrinking nature causes her great unhappiness in the rough contact of life, and is often the cause of great unhappiness to others. The background is Scotland for a time—then Italy. There are a couple of love-stories and the usual complications, but all freshly worked out.

Gilchrist, R. Murray. Passion the plaything: a novel. N. Y., G. Munro, [United States Book Co., 1891.] 2-207 p. D. (Seaside lib., pocket ed., no. 1703.) pap., n. p.

Glimpses of pilgrim Plymouth. Plymouth, Mass., A. S. Burbank, [1891.] c. '90. no paging, il. obl. D. cl., $1.75.

Views in photogravure, from photographs and paintings, showing the Plymouth of 1620 and the Plymouth of to-day; these are accompanied with extracts of descriptive history, which add to the interest of the pictures.

Goethe, J. W. von. Faust: a tragedy; tr. into English verse, with notes and preliminary remarks by J. Stuart Blackie. 2d ed. rev. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1891. 77+296 p. 12°, cl., $1.75.

Graham, W. Socialism new and old. N. Y., Appleton, 1891. 53+416 p. D. (International scientific ser., no. 68.) cl., $1.75.

"The object of this book is, in the first place, to give an account of contemporary socialism, its forms and aims, its origins, and the causes of its appearance and spread. Secondly, to examine how far, taking the most reasonable form of it, it is desirable or practicable. Thirdly, to set forth certain measures of a socialistic character that would seem both beneficial and necessary as supplements to the present system, to adopt which there is a spontaneous tendency on the part of the state, and to which the course of the industrial and social evolution seems to point."—Introduction.

Green, Evelyn Everett. Mrs. Romain's household. Bost., Bradley & Woodruff, 1891. 350 p. 12°, cl., $1.25.

Green, W. H. D. D. Moses and the prophets. [New issue.] N. Y., Hurst & Co., 1891. c. '82. 1+369 p. D. cl., $1.50. Originally pub. by Rob. Carter & Bros.

Lewis, Charlton T. An elementary Latin dictionary. N. Y., Harper, 1891. c. '90. 4+952 p. O. hf. leath., $2.

This is substantially an abridgment of Mr. Lewis' "Latin dictionary for schools." The vocabulary has been extended to include all words used by Catullus, Tibullus, Propertius and Tacitus (in his larger works), as well as those used by Terence, Caesar, Sallust, Cicero, Livy, Nepos, Vergil, Horace, Ovid, Juvenal, Phaedrus and Curtius. On the other hand, space has been saved by the omission of all detailed references to books and passages, only the name of the writer being indicated as authority for each word or phrase; and by limiting the illustrative citations to those which are typical or peculiarly instructive. Proper names, too, have been excluded, except those which, because of peculiarities of form or of their derivations, require special explanation.

Norton, C. Ledyard. A handbook of Florida. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1891. c. 32+380 p. map, S. cl., $1.25.

The first section of the handbook is devoted to sketches of the several counties, with maps compiled from the best attainable authorities. In the context the different railroad lines crossing the counties are given, with tables of stations and distances, so that, if desired, the different routes can be followed from county to county. In the other sections travelling routes are described in general and in detail. The general plan divides the state into five sections, as follows: The Atlantic coast; The gulf coast; Middle or Inland Florida; Sub-tropical Florida; West Florida. Much information of value to intending settlers, as well as to tourists, will be found throughout the volume.

An entertaining account of the adventures of a party of eleven persons who made a winter trip to Egypt.

Reid, T. Wemyss. The life, letters and friendships of Richard Monckton Milnes, first Lord Houghton; introd. by R. H: Stoddard. N. Y., Cassell Pub. Co., [1891.] c. 2 v., 20+527; 6+544 p. por. O. cl., $5.

Almost fifty years of English life, in society, literature, politics or courts, is covered by these two handsome volumes. Lord Houghton's acquaintances and friendships included nearly every well-known man or woman of his time. From Wordsworth to Lord Tennyson and down to the youngest living author, he touched the life of this century. He left thirty thousand letters, which Mr. Reid has judiciously culled. The volumes embrace letters from Matthew Arnold, John Bright, Lord Brougham, Mrs. Carlyle, Gladstone, Guizot, Motley, Dean Stanley, Kinglake and many others equally as famous.

Schreiner, Olive, ["Ralph Iron," pseud.] Dreams. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1891. 7-182 p. por. S. cl., $1.

Eleven "dreams" entitled The lost joy; The hunter (from The story of an African farm); The gardens of pleasure; In a far-off world; Three dreams in a desert; A dream of wild bees (written as a letter to a friend); In a ruined chapel; Life's gifts. The artist's secret; I thought as I stood; and The sunlight lay across my bed. The author shows her old fearlessness in dealing with the deep problems, joys and sorrows of life. Her style is severely simple and her thoughts exquisitely poetic.

Secret mission (A): a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1891. 3+237 p. D. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., new series, no. 690.) pap., 40 c.

In 1887 Roman Starowski, a Pole by birth, undertakes in the interest of Germany, a politic and diplomatic mission, which involves affairs between that country and Russia. This is the theme. The events are the sojourn of Starowski in Poland, his two love-affairs, an arrest, Roman's self-renunciation, and a tragic incident that occurs in Siberia.

Smart, Hawley. The plunger: a turf tragedy of five-and-twenty years ago. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1891. 2+312 p. D. (Lippincott's ser. of select novels, no. 118.) pap., 25 c.

In racing parlance, a reckless gambler is termed a "plunger." This fitting appellation is bestowed upon Rob. Gauntlett, when the story opens in Kent Saxham. The interest begins when Rob. enters Bobadil for the Cesarwich. In the results of this race are involved the fate of a pair of lovers, the fortune of a young man, the life of Squire Wrexford and the guilt or innocence of Barnes, Shelton and Dick the Raven.

Sophocles. Plays and fragments; with critical notes, commentary and translation in English prose by R. C. Jebb. Pt. 4, The Philoctetes. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1891. 67+267 p. 8°, cl., $3.50.

Struss, H. W. Ring-riding: being a collection of movements and commands, designed for the use of riding schools and riding-clubs. N. Y., Appleton, 1891. c. 3-139 p. O. cl., $2.

Contains much valuable instruction, and many hints about riding. As far as applied to classes, its chief and peculiar value lies in the plates with which the book is illustrated, showing the different movements that can be executed by a company of riders. Beginning with the simple movements, the plates gradually lead to the more complex, all being fully explained in the text. Suitable commands are also given, and at the same time repetition is avoided as much as possible.

Sturgis, Julian. Comedy of a country house: a novel. N. Y., G. Munro, [United States Book Co., 1891.] 2-202 p. D. (Seaside lib., pocket ed., no. 1717.) pap., 20 c.

Swan, Annie S., [Mrs. Burnett-Smith.] Maitland of Laurieston: a family history. Cin., O., Cranston & Stowe, 1891. 4-447 p. por. il. D. cl., $1.

Maitland of Laurieston was a sturdy Scotch yeoman, extremely narrow and rigid in his religious views. This led to misunderstanding and dissension in his family, and finally was the partial cause of John Maitland renouncing the religion of his forefathers. The story tells of John's marriage with Agnes Laurie, of the bearing of this step upon the question, and how the vexed theological problem was solved.

Taylor, T. The Eleusinian and Bacchic mysteries: a dissertation; ed. with introd., notes, emendations and glossary by Alexander Wilder, M.D.; il. by A. L. Rawson. 4th ed. N. Y., J. W. Bouton, 1891. c. '91. 5-258 p. O. (Bouton's archaic lib., no. 1.) cl., $5.

This new edition of Taylor's work, which is a classic in its way, is made the initial volume in a new series. It is handsomely printed and bound, and will be welcomed in its new shape by students of occult science, mystics, etc.

Tolstoi, Count Lyof N. Two generations. N. Y., G. Munro, [United States Book Co., 1891.] 4-104 p. D. (Seaside lib., pocket ed., no. 1073.) pap., n. p.

Valdés, Don Armando Palacio. Scum; [from the Spanish; with an introd. by Edmund Gosse.] N. Y., United States Book Co., [1891.] 8+346 p. D. (Lovell's series of foreign literature, no. 9.) pap., 50 c.

La Espuma is the Spanish title of this, the latest of Valdés' novels. It is a realistic picture of the frothy surface of fashionable life in Madrid. Clementina de Osorio, a beautiful woman approaching forty, married to a man of great wealth, is the heroine. She is utterly unprincipled and vulgar—her successive amours being the theme of the novel. The character sketches are remarkably strong. They represent Spanish types of the better class, mostly rich in vice and selfishness.

A story of American school life at the Phillips Andover Academy; rich in character drawing, and incidents of school-life, such as a ball-match, etc. John Strong, the central figure, is a poor boy who works his way against all odds. The story is evidently the outgrowth of Mr. Ward's own school memories and experiences.

EXPERT TESTIMONY FOR THE "CHRIST-MAS BOOKSHELF."

IN an article devoted to booksellers' lists and Christmas catalogues received by the Börsenblatt, the following encouraging words are spoken for the "Christmas Bookshelf:" "The German book trade always gains specially valuable information from foreign catalogues, which generally offer many new and original features. 'The Christmas Bookshelf' (being the Christmas number of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY), just received, is noticeable in many respects. It is distinguished for the variety of its matter, but above all for the neatness and clearness of its typography. Every page is equally effective through the restful simplicity of its beautiful antique type; the eye is not disturbed by kaleidoscopic effects of the varieties of type often used in German catalogues.
Clear woodcuts, many of them of exceptional artistic beauty, brighten the text; but we are specially charmed by the large number of process cuts, reproduced with softness and clearness, of which some are really works of art."

The article then speaks of the Christmas Catalogue of the Paris Journal de l'imprimerie et de la librairie, which this year was the largest of the catalogues received by the Börsenblatt, containing an unusual amount of text and illustrations, and goes on to say: "But compared with the neatness and finish of its American contemporary the 'Christmas Bookshelf,' the 'Livres d'Etren-nes pour l'année 1890' cannot hold its hitherto undisputed position. It is noticeably lacking in the happy selection of woodcuts and the quality of their printing. Its cover also is hardly up to the standard of modern artistic taste."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE New York Star, after a fitful existence of twenty-three years, has passed into the hands of Frank A. Munsey, proprietor of Munsey's Weekly, The Argosy and a publishing house, who will change its name to The Daily Continent.

THE London Publishers' Circular has definitely adopted the quarto form, and will hereafter be published weekly instead of fortnightly. The Circular was established in 1837, and for forty years conducted by the late Mr. Sampson Low.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JANUARY 31, 1891.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or our advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE STATE AS A PUBLISHER OF TEXT-BOOKS.

PERIODICALLY one of our legislators, either spontaneously or through pressure on the part of a portion of his constituency, feels called upon to attack the text-book question as it stands. In New York State, as elsewhere, the most utopian propositions have in the past been advanced on the subject of a more economical method of providing text-books for the public schools, only to find their way at last into the waste-paper basket. The present movement in the New York Legislature wishes to direct the Regents of the University to publish text-books to be sold at actual cost price to the schools of the State. It also proposes that these text-books should be prepared under the direction of the Regents, on reading, spelling, arithmetic, geography, grammar, United States history, civil government, physiology and physical geography. In other words, all ordinary school subjects, and some others, would thus be covered by the new scheme. Strangely enough, no provision seems to have been made to make the use of these text-books obligatory on the teachers of every public educational institution in the State. But, even if there had been such a provision, it is doubtful whether it could eventually be enforced without repealing a large number of local laws, and for a considerable time throwing the business of teaching into utter confusion.

However necessary a reform in the system of supplying text-books may be—and we are not so blind to the defects of the present system as to hold for one moment that it is a model one—we have no reason to retreat from the position we have hitherto held in the matter of the State as a manufacturer of text-books. The State cannot, and never can be in the position to, make a text-book that can compete with one produced by private enterprise. Not that the State might not command the intellect necessary for the purpose, but for the reason that the office would, in a short time, become tainted with the bane that has made the present method of supply objectionable in many respects—namely, politics. The safeguard, or at any rate one element of safety, in the present system of private enterprise is the possibility of competition. Such a factor would never enter into a State institution—at any rate not for generations to come.

Mr. Dewey, the Secretary to the Regents, as will be noticed elsewhere, also points out the serious evil which, from the educationist's point of view, must arise in this as in all other illegitimate interference on the part of the State with private enterprise. "Certainly," he says, "it would be a mistake, educationally, to adopt a policy that would prevent the best teachers from trying to improve upon existing text-books, and the present bill would need amendment to guard against this evil."

DUTY ON OLD BOOKS IN NEW BINDINGS.

A SHIPMENT of books recently made to a Boston firm was adjudged by the customs authorities as liable to duty—not that the books came within the twenty years' limit, but because they had been newly bound. It is said that the consignees mean to fight this decision. It certainly seems a very far-fetched and unjust one. The law clearly says that books printed in England over twenty years ago are not dutiable. Had the customs officers assessed the new binding at its value and called for duty to that amount, there would be reason in the proceeding. A binding is merely an attachment of the book, and as much distinct from it as the clothes of a man are from himself.

If this ruling is upheld it will strike a serious blow at the importation of rare books in sumptuous bindings, without benefiting anybody whatever, unless, perhaps, there are some juvenile Bedfords, Zaehnsdorfs or Rivières practising their infant industries in some hidden recesses of the Hub. But seriously is it not time that such exasperating restraints were done away with?

PENDING the decision as to the course of action to be taken on the closure rule and the Election bill, the Republican Caucus Committee of the Senate has decided to recommend a partial order of business for the next week or two. The Apportionment bill is to come first, then the Eight-hour Labor bill, and then the International Copyright bill. As the Senate will hereafter meet at 11 o'clock instead of noon, as at present, and the morning business will be limited to one hour, it is the expectation of the committee that rapid progress will be made in the consideration of the measures selected by them. At any rate, it seems reasonable to hope that before many weeks the Copyright bill will be passed.

BRANDING FOREIGN GOODS—A RECENT CUSTOMS DECISION.

ON December 2, 1890, the Secretary of the Treasury issued a circular letter to the "offices of the Customs and others concerned," of which the following is a copy:

"Section 6 of the Act of October 1, 1890, provides as follows:

"That on and after the first day of March, 1891, all articles of foreign manufacture, such as are usually and ordinarily marked, stamped, branded or labelled, and all packages containing such or other imported articles, shall, respectively, be plainly marked, stamped, branded or labelled in legible English words, so as to indicate the country of their origin; and unless so marked, stamped, branded or labelled they shall not be admitted to entry.

"While the question as to whether goods imported on and after March 1, 1891, are properly marked, stamped, 'branded or labeled' under the above provision is to be decided by collectors of customs at the time of information, and the language of the section is so plain as to hardly require an interpretation by the Department, yet in view of the great number of inquiries received from importers and others, it is deemed proper to publish some of the conclusions reached by the Department in the premises for the information of all concerned."

Then follow twenty-two "conclusions," of which the following only have interest to our readers:

"1. While only such goods or articles of foreign manufacture 'as are usually or ordinarily marked, stamped, branded or labelled' are required to be so marked, etc., on and after the first of March, 1891, yet it will be observed that all packages, outside or other, containing any imported merchandise must be so marked, etc., to entitle the contents thereof to entry in the Custom House.

"14. Articles and packages may be marked either by stamping, branding or labelling, as the party may choose.

"15. In the case of pencils, steel pens, tooth-brushes, licorice sticks, common crockery, etc., the law will be complied with if the cartons and packages containing the same are marked.

"17. Unmanufactured substances need not be marked, but whenever contained in packages, the packages should be marked.

"18. The law does not require the name of the importer, shipper, or maker to be marked or stamped on imported articles or packages.

"19. Marking by stencilling with some indelible material would be a compliance with the law.

"20. It is held that the word 'Scotch' appearing on goods coming from Scotland would be sufficient under said provision."

In reference to the foregoing Messrs. E. Steiger & Co. and a number of other importers of books, etc., addressed the following to Secretary Windom:

NEW YORK, January 1, 1891.

Hon. William Windom, Secretary of the Treasury.

SIR: Referring to your Circular of Dec. 20, 1891, concerning the marking, stamping, branding or labelling of "all articles of foreign manufacture, such as are usually or ordinarily marked, stamped, branded or labelled," the undersigned importers of foreign newspapers, books, etc., beg to express their belief that newspapers, periodicals, pamphlets, books, maps and charts, engravings, sheet music, and other printed matter, are not considered to come under the term articles . . . usually or ordinarily marked, stamped, branded or labelled, but that the Department will hold that marking the outside packages (the cases or bales in which such printed matter is packed) with the name of the country of origin is a substantial compliance with Section 6 of the Act of October 1, 1890, in accordance with the explanations in §§ 1, 2, 3, 4, etc., of the Circular of December 20, 1890.

The undersigned beg to refer to the fact that almost all of the bales or cases which they are receiving contain hundreds of different numbers of newspapers, periodicals, pamphlets, books, etc., which it would be impracticable or next to impossible to have separately stamped or labelled—whilst, moreover, these goods generally all bear the firm-name and address of the foreign publisher and printer. On the other hand such goods are not "usually or ordinarily marked, stamped, branded or labelled."

The fear that such imported printed matter might be intended to pass as American manufacture, cannot be entertained.

While for these reasons and others which we hesitate here to express, we are confident that the Department will consider the marking of the outside packages (cases and bales) of printed matter, a substantial and sufficient compliance with the law, we respectfully request that this be expressly declared at an early day, lest officers of the customs and others might be of different opinion, to the injury of importers.

THE NEW YORK STATE SCHOOL-BOOK BILL.

ASSEMBLYMAN KEELER has introduced in the Legislature a bill which directs the Regents of the University to have compiled and to publish, for sale at cost to the schools of the State, text-books in reading, spelling, arithmetic, geography, grammar, United States history, civil government, physiology and physical geography.

In answer to an inquiry as to the proposed law, Melvil Dewey, Secretary of the Board of Regents, said: "This bill was drawn without any consultation or knowledge on the part of the Regents or any of their staff. While four of the books named belong with the high-school studies and so are in the Regents' department, the matter of State school-books is almost wholly a question of the common schools, with which the Regents have nothing to do. Somewhat similar bills have been introduced heretofore, but this office has had nothing to do either with favoring or opposing them. I have never heard any opinion expressed by the Regents, either as a body or individually, and probably none will be expressed on the present bill."

When asked as to his personal judgment, the Secretary said: "I believe that all in the office are in favor of free text-books, and of any practical measure that will lessen the burdens of giving a good education to the large families of the poor. But this bill as now drawn does no make text-books free, although it would doubtless greatly reduce their cost. Its provision that new text-books must be compiled seems to me a very unwise one, for I have no doubt that better books could be secured for less money in many cases by buying the copyright, or, possibly, buying the manufactured books. Certainly the bill should allow whoever has charge of its execution to secure, for the use of the schools, the best possible books at the least possible cost.

"It also seems objectionable to compel schools to use the State books if they prefer to pay a higher price for text-books that they esteem to be better suited to their wants. If the State books were really good, and were furnished, as it is claimed they could be, at less than half the present cost, it would seem that all practical requirements would be met by allowing each town or city the privilege of having these good books at low cost if they wished.

"Certainly, it would be a mistake educationally to adopt a policy that would prevent the best teachers from trying to improve upon existing text-books, and the present bill would need amendment to guard against this evil. I am aware that there is a very strong sentiment, especially in the country districts, in favor of reducing to the lowest point the cost of school-books, and that the present bill seems to promise material relief in this important direction, but there are also grave arguments on the other side, so that we in the office are not prepared to say that we are either for or against State action in the matter. As it concerns the Superintendent of Public Instruction much more closely than it does us, we are inclined to leave the whole matter to his department."

THE UNITED STATES BOOK CO. AGENTS FOR THE BELFORD CO.

THE UNITED STATES BOOK Co., beginning with January 31, become the sole agents for the sale to the trade of the publications of the Belford Company, of New York. That is, with the exception of Belford's Magazine and the subscription-books published by the Belford Co., the United States Book Co. will hereafter supply all the books formerly published by the Belford Co., and those which they are yet to issue—provided they continue publishing. There is no official explanation of the change further than the following communications:

N. Y., January 31, 1891.

To the Trade:

We have appointed the United States Book Company sole agents for the sale of our publications to the trade, and from this date all orders will be turned over to them, where they will receive prompt attention.

BELFORD COMPANY, New York.

To the Trade:

We have this day been appointed sole agents for the sale to the trade, of the publications of Belford Company, of New York. We are now preparing a complete catalogue and order list of these books, which will shortly be ready for distribution. All orders will receive prompt attention.

PICK-UPS.

SURE TO CONVICT.—"Did you read over the proofs of my novel?" "Yes." "Well?" "They are damning."—N. Y. Sun.

A GREAT WORK.—"I see that a Japanese author has written a book in 100 volumes." "What is the book—a 'Life of Lincoln,' or a 'History of the Civil War'?"—Puck.

OBITUARY.

GEORGE BANCROFT.

THE death of George Bancroft at Washington, January 17, closes an epoch in American literature. He was the last survivor of that brilliant group of prose writers, including Irving, Cooper, Prescott and Hawthorne, who made the fourth and fifth decades of the nineteenth century illustrious with strong creative work. Like the greater part of American writers of distinction, he was of Puritan ancestry and came from New England. He undoubtedly inherited from his father, the Rev. Dr. Aaron Bancroft, his scholarly tastes, his earnest patriotism, and his liberal views on all social topics. George Bancroft was born at Worcester, Mass., October 3, 1800. His father's library was his playground, and under his father's guidance he developed mentally so early that he was ready to enter Harvard College in 1813. He graduated in 1817, and went to Germany, to devote some years to wider culture before settling down to the study of theology.

Instead of confining himself to a single university he resided for a considerable time first at Göttingen, where he graduated as Doctor of Philosophy in 1820, and afterward at Berlin. Among his teachers at Göttingen were Eichhorn and Blumenbach, but the one who made the greatest impression upon his future career was the venerable historian Heeren, whose principal works he subsequently translated. At Berlin he added to his earlier achievements a course of Oriental languages and Biblical interpretations, and enjoyed the personal acquaintance of Schleiermacher, Wilhelm von Humboldt, Savigny, Lappenberg and other eminent scholars and statesmen.

Returning to the United States in 1822 he taught Greek for a year in Harvard College, and then, with Dr. Joseph Green Cogswell, established the celebrated Round Hill school at Northampton, Mass., which was the pioneer in a better system and more extended course of modern classical training in America. Although Mr. Bancroft studied theology and even preached several sermons, his educational and historical impulses proved the stronger, and he soon devoted himself to literary work. In 1830 he withdrew from his school and began his "History of the United States," the first volume of which was published in 1834 by Little, Brown & Co., and two more volumes before 1840, bringing the history down to 1748. Having completed this distinct period of his work, Mr. Bancroft rested by devoting himself heart and soul to public affairs, and for twelve years occupied many important political positions, notably that of Minister to England under President Polk. On his return to America, Mr. Bancroft settled down in New York City and worked uninterruptedly at his history, and published five more volumes before 1860. Here he paused again for six years and devoted himself to national politics during the critical period of the Civil War. The twelfth and concluding volumes of his great lifework appeared in 1882. A complete revised edition was issued in 1885 by D. Appleton & Co.

Mr. Bancroft's other contributions to literature do not make an extensive list. Besides the translation of Heeren's work and a volume of translations from Goethe, Schiller and other poets living while he studied in Germany, Mr. Bancroft published "An Oration Delivered on the Fourth of July, 1826, at Northampton, Mass.," "An Oration Delivered before the Democracy of Springfield and Neighboring Towns, July 4, 1836;" a "History of the Colonization of the United States" (Boston, 1841); "An Oration Delivered at the Commemoration in Washington of the Death of Andrew Jackson, June 27, 1845;" "The Necessity, the Reality and the Promise of the Progress of the Human Race;" "An Oration Delivered Before the New York Historical Society, Nov. 20, 1854;" "Proceedings of the First Assembly of Virginia, Communicated with an Introductory Note;" "Collections of the New York Historical Society," Second Series, Volume III., Part 1; "Literary and Historical Miscellanies;" "Memorial Address on the Life and Character of Abraham Lincoln," delivered before Congress in 1866; "A Plea for the Constitution of the United States of America Wounded in the House of its Guardians" (1886), a biography of Jonathan Edwards in the American Cyclopaedia, and a "Life of Martin Van Buren" (1889). Mr. Bancroft had been long engaged on a biography of James K. Polk, having in his possession, among other papers, an extended diary kept by Polk during his Presidential term. Mr. Bancroft had lived permanently in Washington since about 1875. His life was remarkably eventful in a quiet way. It was full of inspiring activities and diversified beyond measure.

WESLEY REDHEAD.

WESLEY REDHEAD, the senior member of Redhead, Norton, Lathrop & Co., of Des Moines, Ia., whose death on the 9th inst. was recorded in our issue for January 17, was born near Penrith, England, July 22, 1825. His father was Nicholas Redhead, and his mother's maiden name was Sarah Clark. His father was a merchant in his native place, and in 1829, when Wesley was 4 years old, emigrated to Montreal, Canada, where he engaged in the same business. His parents both died in 1831, leaving a family. Two of the sons, Wesley and the next oldest, went to Cincinnati, Ohio, to live with an uncle. There he learned the printer's trade and began that career of industry which was unbroken, except by illness, up to his death. He was a newsboy, too, one of the first in the West. When he was 14 he was sent to Fairfield, Vermont, to live with his eldest brother, but he ran away in a few weeks and drove horses on a canal. Two more years he worked at various employments, hiring out on farms and as cabin boy on a steamboat. In September, 1844, this latter business took him to Iowa and he landed at Bloomington (now Muscatine) with the intention of visiting a brother at Iowa City. There he worked a year at $3 a week in a newspaper office and then learned the tailor's trade, at which business he worked as journeyman until 1851, when, wanting to start in business for himself, being then 26 years old, he went to Fort Des Moines. There he remained until his death. He soon made many friends, and in 1853 was recommended to President Fillmore for appointment to the postmastership of Des Moines. That office he held for nine years. While acting as postmaster he opened a bookstore, one of the first in the State, being the fourth started in Iowa, and ever since his name has been connected with that business. From a trade of $5 a week it grew to be probably the largest wholesale business of the kind in Iowa. For a long time Mr. R. T. Wells was associated with him, but about six years ago Mr. Wells retired and a change was made, the firm becoming Redhead, Norton, Lathrop & Co.

Mr. Redhead was a man of great energy, marked business ability and strong principles. In his long business career he had been remarkably successful, and had accumulated a large fortune. For a number of years past he gave no personal attention to his book business, his time being occupied with other matters, as he was engaged in many enterprises. He was, in fact, a leader in every public-spirited movement in his city. In 1851 he married Miss Isabel Clark, of Iowa City, and lived with her seven years. In 1858 she died, leaving no children. Two years later he married Miss Annie Seymour, who with four children survives him.

CHARLES TABER CONGDON, for many years an editorial writer on the New York Tribune, died at his home in New York City on the 18th inst. He was nearly seventy years old, having been born in New Bedford, Mass., April 7, 1821. He contributed frequently to the leading magazines, and in 1880 published in book form his "Reminiscences of a Journalist," a series of articles first written for the Tribune.

CHARLES HENRY LUDERS, the young poet, died January 21, in the University Hospital at Philadelphia, where he was undergoing special treatment of the Koch lymph. Mr. Luders was well known throughout the United States and was thirty-three years of age. He was a native of Philadelphia, but prior to 1872 lived with his family at Olney, Ill. About a year ago he fell a victim to la grippe, and that disease left him with developed symptoms of consumption.

OLD BOOK CHAT.

As was to be expected, the recent high-priced sale at Philadelphia of Washington MSS. and relics is bringing a crowd of such material into the market. Next month Messrs. Birch have a sale, which in many respects is far richer and more interesting than their last one. Prices, it is pretty safe to say, will not be any lower, so that buyers at the last sale need not feel discouraged. The catalogue is charmingly gotten up.

THE sale of the Lakeland Library at Sotheby's in March next promises to be an interesting one. The library contains, among other rare books, the famous "Boccaccio," the struggle for the possession of a copy of which Dibdin has rendered historic. Also in the catalogue I notice a pack of cards printed before 1500, and discovered hidden away in the covers of an old book by Dr. Stukeley; some rare quarto editions of Shakespeare's plays, besides a copy, unfortunately imperfect, of the 1594 "Lucrece." Then again worthy of mention is the Dante of 1481 with the weird and terrible Botticelli illustrations. This copy sold for £380 at the Hamilton Palace sale. The catalogue is full of rare and curious items.

MR. JOHN GALWEY, a London dealer, writes to the Publishers' Circular with reference to that clause of the McKinley Bill which has the effect of rendering even old books when "newly bound" amenable to duty. He says: "I do not foresee that it will much affect the sale of hitherto non-dutiable books in the States even when recently bound. The duty will simply come out of the pockets of the purchaser." Quite so! dear sir, and when the purchaser finds that in addition to the cost of a book he is compelled to pay 25% more, because the English bookseller has chosen to put a new binding upon it I suppose that it will very much "affect the sale of hitherto non-dutiable books," which is bad for us and bad for you.

THE sale of the Leffingwell collection, or rather the first half of it, was a great success. The total amount realized was about $23,000. This for thirty-three hundred items was a very high average.

THE whole old-book trade seems agreed there is not opportunity enough in New York to buy stock. There is practically only one salesroom at work, and outside sales seldom occur. There is ample room in New York for at least two more book auctioneers, and good support would be afforded by the trade both in buying and selling. Another firm that would meet the trade in a fair and liberal spirit would have at present an excellent opportunity to do a large and lucrative business.

THE chair of Sir Walter Scott, given by him to Landseer, the painter, and sold with Landseer's other effects in London, and recently offered for sale by J. W. Bouton, has been bought by Francis Wilson, the musical comedian.

THE death of Mr. Thomas Kerslake, of Bristol, England, removes from the scene one of England's oldest, most intelligent and astute dealers. He could have told many a story of strange adventure in book hunting over the United Kingdom. Many rare prizes were picked up by him at country auctions at ridiculous prices. Some thirty years ago when Hayes, of Manchester, Kerslake, of Bristol, Suckling (Messrs. Sotheran), of London, and a few other old-timers, were regular rounders at the country auctions, was the golden age of bargain-buying. And there were "knock-outs" in those days.

"IONICA," that scarce little volume of poems by an "Eton Master," is reprinted in its original shape. Twenty-five dollars has been often paid for a copy of the first edition.

MR. QUARITCH proposes to issue a dictionary of English book collectors from the earliest times to the present. It will give the chief dates and facts of each collector's life, some particulars of the more important works which he collected, and a brief account of the fate that overtook his library after his death. BIBLIOPHILUS.

BUSINESS NOTES

ASHLAND, O.—Geo. H. Ames, bookseller, has sold out.

CHEYENNE, WY.—Geo. L. Holt, bookseller, has sold out.

DENVER, COL.—Mary Ahern, senior partner of Ahern & O'Keefe, is dead.

DIXON, ILL.—J. C. Mead, bookseller, has sold out.

MONTROSE, CAL.—Hanley & Co., booksellers, are reported burned out.

PARIS, KY.—Thomas F. Roche, bookseller, is dead.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—Faulkner & Allen, dealers in subscription-books, Philadelphia, Pa., it is reported, have assigned.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—The Keystone Publishing Co. has removed to Eighth and Locust Streets.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—At a meeting of the creditors of J. C. Eyrich at the Stationers' Board of Trade, N. Y., the following motions were adopted: First—"It be the sense of this meeting that we believe the best interests of creditors will be served by granting to the debtors the respite of one, two and three years." Second—"That the creditors appoint F. F. Hansell, of F. F. Hansell & Brother, New Orleans, La., their agent to vote for them, in their name, giving to said Eyrich the respite asked for." A number of creditors were represented at the meeting, and it seemed to be the unanimous wish that other creditors extend to Eyrich all the help possible, so that he might continue in business, as in their opinion, if assets were closed out through insolvency proceedings, creditors would not realize more than twenty-five per cent. after paying all expenses.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

BOWEN & SON, Springfield, Mass., have bought of Clark W. Bryan, the original publishers, all interest in the edition and plates of "Massachusetts in the War, 1861-1865," by James L. Bowen, with an introduction by Hon. H. L. Dawes, and will hereafter publish the work at a reduced price.

THOMAS WHITTAKER will publish at once the first volume of a series of Studies in Christian Biography devoted to workers and thinkers of the Church in ancient, mediæval and modern times. The first volume will contain sketches of St. Augustine and St. Chrysostom by Philip Schaff, D.D.

BENJ. R. TUCKER, Boston, has just ready "Church and State," a new volume of essays on social problems, by Count Leo Tolstoi, translated directly from Tolstoi's manuscript. It was written several years ago, but has thus far been kept in manuscript. It is said to be an assault upon both Church and State from the standpoint of Christ's teachings.

CHARLES E. MERRILL & Co. have just issued the first two volumes of the authorized American edition of Ruskin's works, which comes from the press of George Allen, Mr. Ruskin's publisher. These volumes are "The Seven Lamps of Architecture" and "The Two Paths." To each work Prof. Charles Eliot Norton contributes an introduction.

RUDYARD KIPLING, after having delivered his story, "The Light that Failed," to the three firms in this country who were to publish it, the one through the newspapers, the other as a novelette in a monthly, and the third for book publication, decided he did not like the ending. He cabled this word, and that he had added a third to its length. The word came too late for the Sun and Lippincott's Magazine and for the first edition published by the United States Book Company. The latter, however, have just ready an edition of the novel as finally completed.

WILBUR B. KETCHAM, New York, announces "Aleph, the Chaldean, or, The Messiah as seen from Alexandria," by E. F. Burr, D.D., LL.D., the famous author of "Ecce Coelum," also a new work by Charles F. Deems, D.D.,

LL.D., entitled "The Gospel of Spiritual Insight," being a companion volume to "The Gospel of Common Sense." The work will take up the Gospel of St. John. "Undesigned Coincidences in the Old and New Testaments," by Rev. John J. Blunt, with an introduction by Rev. Joseph Sanderson, D.D., LL.D., will also be published at an early date, together with a new illustrated edition of "Nature and the Bible," by J. W. Dawson, D.D., LL.D.

HERBERT WARD's account of his experience with Stanley's rear-guard will be issued in London as a shilling volume.

CHAPMAN & HALL have in press a second volume of Dr. William Junker's "Travels in Central Africa," covering the period from 1879 to 1883. Like the first volume, it is translated by Prof. A. H. Keane, and will contain numerous illustrations.

WARD, LOCK & Co. have in preparation an edition of 250 copies of an édition de luxe of the Lyra Elegantiarum, edited by Frederick Locker-Lampson. It will be of foolscap quarto size, printed on Van Gelder hand-made paper. Each copy will be signed by Mr. Locker-Lampson.

MACMILLAN & Co. announce for early publication "The Life of the Right Honorable Arthur McMurrough Kavanagh," who was remarkable—having been born without arms or legs, notwithstanding which he sat in Parliament for many years, and yachted, hunted and shot, carrying on the ordinary pursuits of a country gentleman and landlord. They have also just issued a new edition of Palgrave's admirable anthology, "The Golden Treasury of Songs and Lyrics," printed in larger type than heretofore, and augmented by fifty new pieces, chiefly from collections of Elizabethan songs; also, Mrs. Humphry Ward's address delivered at the opening of University Hall, in which the special religious aims of the Hall are set forth. Mention is made of the beginning of class-teaching under the guidance of Dr. Martineau. They will shortly add to their Manuals for Students, Series a long-needed English translation of the "Outlines of Psychology," by Prof. Harold Höfding, of Copenhagen. The translation has been made by M. G. Lowndes.

THE changed form and fashion of our contemporary, the London Publishers' Circular, mentioned elsewhere, is coincident with an essential change in its proprietorship—Mr. Searle and Mr. Rivington having both retired on the 1st instant. Mr. Searle had been connected with the firm of Sampson Low & Co. for many years, and on the death of Sampson Low, Jr., in 1871, he became a partner. He administered the affairs of the counting-house, but has been obliged, on account of his health, to withdraw. Mr. Rivington, who has been with the house for fifteen years, will devote his capital and energies to the business of electric lighting. The firm of Sampson Low, Marston & Co., Limited, now consists of Mr. Edward Marston, senior member of the old firm, who entered into partnership with the late Sampson Low and his son Sampson in 1856; his son Mr. R. B. Marston, who has been with the firm since 1869, and a partner since 1881; Mr. Robert Bickersteth, son of the Bishop of Exeter; and Mr. Stuart J. Reid.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.
